Wrapping the String

The order to wrap your string: We began this project from the bottom & moved up, first wrapping string for Baby Yoda's brown jacket, then the yellow for his neck area, green for his head, pink for his ears, and finally, black for his mouth.

#4 Tie a loop at the beginning of the string & place it around one of the pins in the colors area. Tie a second knot to make sure the string stays securely in place. Begin by wrapping the string tautly around the outline of each section, weaving the string between the border pins. This will help you to establish the areas border.

TIP: Be aware of the shapes outline -- try to follow the lines of the pattern as much as you can.

#5 After you have a few layers built up around the border, you can then begin pulling the string diagonally across the interior of the area, filling in the center. Once you have a few layers built up, wrap the remainder of the string a few more times around the border again which will help to secure the string in place.

Once you're at the end of the color, tie a double knot around a pin and trim the strings end. Now you can move on to the next section and color.

#6 The last step will be to insert the 2 black buttons between the eye area pins -- the buttons should fit snugly inside the circle of pins, but if you have a problem securing the buttons in place you can use one of the extra pins to help keep the buttons secured.

Step-by-Step Guide:

#1 Take the Baby Yoda pattern template & position it in the center of the double foam board square. Use a few short pieces of tape and secure the tracing paper template in place on top of your foam board square. Next you'll start to push each pin into place where you see the small dots.

NOTE: There are 73 dots that outline the Baby Yoda design. Your kit includes an extra 7 pins, just in case any pins get bent or lost.

#2 Push in one pin at a time, inserting them in place through the dots. Then, using the thicker part of the surface of the scissors, push the pins a little deeper into the double foam board.

TIP: You'll hear & feel the pins pop through the double foam board which will help to secure the pins well into place.

#3 Once your pins are all in place on the board, you can then remove the tracing paper template by easily ripping it -- since the tracing paper is very thin and lightweight it shouldn't be hard to remove it.
